

Grav19, 2nd Circular

This is the second and final announcement of GRAV19 conference.

Grav19 will be held in the city of Córdoba (Argentina), from April 8th through April 12nd, 2019.

This is the eighth in a series ("GravYY") of conferences organized by the General Relativity and Gravitation Group at FaMAF (Universidad Nacional de Córdoba) since Year 2006. The venue be the auditorium of FaMAF.

The conference is intended to bring together specialists working on gravitation and closely related topics, including classical and quantum gravity, data analysis, machine learning, mathematical relativity, numerical relativity, gravity in arbitrary dimensions, astrophysics and astro-particle physics.

Graduate students and advanced undergraduate students are encouraged to apply, limited funds will be available for financial help for students.

The conference languages will be Spanish and English.

The list of invited speakers includes:

Iván Agullo, Louisiana State University, USA.

Parameswaran Ajith, International Centre for Theoretical Sciences, India.

Lars Anderson, Albert Einstein Institute, Germany.

Florian Beyer*, University of Otago, New Zealand.

Fabrizio Canfora, CECS, Chile.

Federico Carrasco, Universitat de les Illes Balears, España.

Ana Laura García Perciante, Universidad Autónoma Metropolitana, Mexico.

José Jaramillo, Institut de Mathematiques de Bourgogne , France.

Helmut Friedrich, Max Planck institute for gravitational Physics, Germany.

Luis Lehner, Perimeter Institute for Theoretical Physics, Canada.

Steven Liebling, Long Island University, USA.

Carlos Palenzuela*, Universitat de les Illes Balears, España.

Alejandro Pérez, Université de Marseille, France.

Frans Pretorius, Princeton University, USA.

Jorge Pullin, Louisiana State University, USA.

István Rácz, Wigner RCP, Hungary.

Martín Reiris, Centro de Matemática, Udelar, Montevideo, Uruguay.
